MYRTLE MUST PUT UP $7,500 OR GO TO JAIL—VERDICT

Mrs. Blackledge Loses
Suit Over Love
Of Copper

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(AP)—For the love of a policeman Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge must pay $7,500 a jury of 12 men has decided.

Which, incidentally, is considerably less than the $100,000 value placed on the love of Norman Notingham, patrol wagon driver, by his wife, Susanne, in her alienation of affections suit against the former Collector of Internal Revenue.

Today three courses of action remained open for Mrs. Blackledge—pay the judgment, go to jail or appeal.

As for paying the judgment she dismissed that as one of the possibilities herself last night when informed of the verdict.

"My, I haven't got 75 cents! I'll have to go to jail."

And those who knew her recalled the $50,000 of borrowed money she claimed to have lost in an alleged faro game swindle at Springfield, Ill., several years ago.

Plaintiff Must Pay
However, there was one ray of hope for her in the overshadowing jail sentence. The law provides that defendants in such cases may be incarcerated for six months—if the plaintiff pays the board bill amounting to $350 a week. In that case it would be Mrs. Nottingham who would pay.

Mrs. Nottingham, who testified to doing her own detective work by crawling over roofs and the like on dark nights to spy on Mrs. Blackledge and Nottingham, was not in court when the verdict was returned. Neither was Mrs. Blackledge nor the crowds of spectators that attended the trial.

It had taken the jury of 10 self-admitted "happy husbands" and two bachelors, who had never figured in personal alienation or breach of promise suits, six hours to arrive at a verdict, last night, and when they did only a few stragglers and court attaches were on hand for the big moment.

Nottingham Drives Patrol
Nottingham wasn't there either, being busy driving his patrol wagon. In the afternoon he had heard his wife's attorney, Murphy D. Tate, tell the jury in his closing argument that no one man's heart is being enough for two women.

Mrs. Blackledge had testified during her turn on the stand to renting an apartment under an assumed name as a rendezvous for the meeting between her and the paddy wagon driver.

Her attorney, Eugene Meegan, in his final plea to the jury pictured her as a widow—age 42—whose husband and son had died within a fortnight of one another, and who later lost both her money and job.

Points Sad Picture
"There she was gentlemen of the jury, without husband, son, friends, job or money," he said. "Then this man Nottingham stepped into her life and said, 'Is there anything I can do for you?'"

Meegan then grew eloquent and compared the friendship that developed between the widow Blackledge and Nottingham to a snowball.

"It was just like a snowball, gentlemen—the more it rolled along, the more it grew and grew," he said.

Instead of attempting to stop the "snowball" Meegan said Mrs. Nottingham preferred to collect.

BROADWAY COME

Torch Singer Whose Husband Was Shot,
Studies Dramatics

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Libby Holman, torch singer who was widowed by the bullet which killed Z. Smith Reynolds, heir to tobacco millions, is studying dramatics for what is believed to be an intended Broadway comeback.

In a select class of twelve pupils, she is treading the path which has been beaten to the door of the Hedgerow Theater, in the beautiful little Rose Valley, 25 miles outside Philadelphia.

Jasper Decker, head of the theater where Ann Harding got her start, directs the class. The husky-throated Broadway star is a "proud pupil," he says.

"She merely explained that there were some things she would like to 'unlearn,'" Decker asserted.

Little more could be learned, because Miss Holman has remained in seclusion since Reynolds was shot at Winston-Salem, N. C., on July 1, 1932. She was indicted in connection with the death, but the case was not prosecuted.

Now the star who packed theaters while she sang "Moanin' Low" and "Something to Remember You By"—the mother of a baby who is expected to receive $200,000 from his father's estate—is paying $10 a lesson to learn dramatics.

NOTED ARTIST DEAD
Old Lyme, Conn., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Thomas Watson Ball, 70, noted artist and mural decorator, died today after a stroke of apoplexy.

He had been in ill health for the last year but his illness was not regarded as serious until the last few weeks.

Weetigo Death Rumor
Sends Canadian Police
on Cold Trip

The Pas, Manitoba, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Vague reports of a Weetigo or "Cannibal Spirit" death among the Chippewa Indians of the Barren lands sent a winter patrol of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police musing into the north country today toward Lac Du Brochet trading post.

Not since 1907 has word of a Weetigo death been whispered along the northern trails. At that time the central figure was a 72-year-old Indian medicine man who was held responsible for the torture slaying of 20 demented persons.

Hunted by mounted police the aged man hanged himself rather than face trial.

Sergt. Percy Rose, veteran musher of the Royal Mounted, was dispatched yesterday on a cold 250-mile trip to the Indian camps of Burrows Bay and Reindeer Lake on the fringe of the northwest territories to investigate the new reports.

Tied To Dog Sled?
Repeated stories of a demented Indian being tied to a dog-sleigh and left until his dilirious mutterings were stilled in death gave rise to the investigation. Although Cree and Chippewyan Indian camps still have their "charms" for the sick and demented, death by force is still a criminal act in the laws enforced by the Royal Mounted.

Samuel Insull

May Have to Remain
Aboard Ship Flying
Greek Flag

Athens, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Samuel Insull, Sr., former Chicago utilities operator, now 74 years old, may have to spend the rest of his life sailing the seven seas on ships which fly the Greek flag.

No alternative seemed likely today, for the Ministry of the Interior was preparing to give the fugitive from United States justice its permission to leave Greece, but no other nation had offered him haven.

The Ministry of the Interior let it be known emphatically that it would not give Insull a Greek passport. It was also said in the Ministry that it did not expect him to use the American passport which the United States government last year declared void.

To Receive Permit
Instead, it was said in the Ministry, Insull will be given a laissez-passer—a simple permission to leave the country which sheltered him until last week when it was ruled that he must quit Greece before Feb. 1.

No foreign consulate in Athens has prepared to visa the laissez-passer, and such a visa would be necessary before Insull could enter any other country.

It was not expected that he would be surrendered to the United States authorities who seek to return him to the United States and trial for embezzlement in Chicago.

In the present situation, the only probability is that Greek police would go to Insull Jan. 31—the last day permitted him in Greece—escort him to the harbor, and place him aboard a Greek ship, sailing at once.

And Insull would have to remain in the shelter of the ship's flag.

Senate-Approved Liquor Bill

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Prospects for House approval of the conference revision of the liquor control compromise approved by the Senate, materially increased today as Democratic strategists prepared to blame Republicans for any further delay.

As the House debate opened, Speaker Arthur Roe announced that if the two-thirds majority of the House could not be obtained, the emergency clause would be struck and the bill enacted by a constitutional majority so as to become effective July 1.

The Democratic leaders were ready to charge Republican opponents with full responsibility for the lack of regulation and loss of revenue until July 1 if 102 votes could not be obtained.

Several Republicans privately said they would be forced to vote for the conference committee's report because of the new development.

The rival floor leaders clashed as oratory opened.

Welfare Island Prison
Called Worst In World
By New York Commission*Surprise Visit To City's Prison Uncovers Scandal

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A mid-mannered stranger from Chillicothe, O., tore the false-face from Welfare Island penitentiary today and showed a scandalized New York "the worst prison in the world."

Austin H. MacCormick, Mayor LaGuardia's "specialist" appointed as Commissioner of Corrections for New York City, has only been in town a fortnight from Chillicothe, where he was in acting charge of the federal reformatory. No one had anticipated so soon at least such a coup as he directed yesterday.

His descent upon the island prison yesterday was so well planned that neither the 1,700 prisoners nor Warden Joseph McCann himself, was aware of the purpose.

Was Astonished
Commissioner MacCormick expressed astonishment at conditions on the island, and after finding it reeking with gang rule, narcotic addicts and ugly viciousness he called it "the worst prison in the world."

Some of the conditions uncovered by the Commissioner and described by him as "almost beyond belief."

The prison population was virtually under the thumbs of two gangster inmates.

These leaders had unnumbered special privileges.

They enjoyed valet services, special food, special sleeping quarters, special liberties.

They kept pets and raised flowers.

Special Privileges
One of the leaders—the notorious Joseph Rao who was the unscathed target of the infamous Harlem "baby killers" two years ago—even had his own monogrammed stationery. (When MacCormick's men walked in yesterday morning Rao was shaving. Ordered to "come along," he merely waved his hand tolerantly and said, "I'll go with the next batch.") A brawny Deputy Commissioner snapped Rao out of his majesty with a quick, "You'll go now, Rao."

The other leader—Edward Cleary, a rogue with a black record—had a vicious police dog chained to his bed.

Commissioner MacCormick spent the night at the prison. Warden McCann was still nominally in charge but lacked authority to issue orders without the Commissioner's approval.

Knives, razor blades, lengths of pipe and even a large hatchet were among the contraband found in large quantities in the possession of the prisoners.

Mr. Bunnell has the reputation of being a thorough student. If elected he will bring the benefit of his admirable talents to the office he seeks. He has never before been a candidate for public office.

Attorney Elwin M. Bunnell, well known Dixon Attorney who recently completed his twelfth year of law practice in Lee county today made known that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of County Judge for Lee county at the April primary.

Mr. Bunnell was born in Lee county on April 6, 1900, and has spent his entire life here. He has always taken an active part in all civic affairs calculated to improve the moral and political standards of the community. Himself the father of four children, he takes a sincere and practical interest in the various organizations whose purpose is to inculcate the precepts of honesty and uprightness in the youth of the nation.

He was admitted to the practice of law in 1924 and has practiced successfully in Dixon and surrounding community ever since.

He entered the United States army in 1918 during the World War, and is a member of Dixon post No. 12 of the American Legion. He is also prominent in the Lee County Bar Association.

As a youth of 23 years, Mr. Bunnell had the signal honor of being one of the youngest attorneys ever to argue a case orally before the Illinois Supreme Court. During his 12 years of law practice in Dixon, he has made a host of friends throughout the entire county. He is a grandson of Attorney James W. Watts, dean of the Lee County Bar Association, and former head of the famous Dixon College of Law. Mr. Bunnell has been associated with his grandfather since his admission to the bar 12 years ago.

Mr. Bunnell has the reputation of being a thorough student. If elected he will bring the benefit of his admirable talents to the office he seeks. He has never before been a candidate for public office.

Hazard, Ky., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Three men were arrested on murder warrants and another held for questioning here today as Perry county officials pressed their investigation of the lynching of Rex Scott, a Negro.

The charges followed an all-night questioning of the four men and others which began shortly after the 20-year-old Negro slayer had been forcibly taken from jail here by a masked mob. Approximately 100 shots were fired as the mob of 150 to 250 men left town and hurried to a grave yard in nearby Knott county where Scott was hanged to a tree and more than a score of shots fired into his body.

Was Ex-Convict
The men arrested on murder warrants were Petie Carroll, 38; Lee Gibson, 37, and Andy Workman, 30, and the man held on orders of County Judge A. M. Gross was James Collins, 32. All came from the Harlowe Coal Company camp at Seuddy near here. Alex Johnson, whom Scott, an ex-convict, was alleged to have fatally beaten, and who was employed in the same coal camp, died last night shortly after the lynching.

Jailer Troy P. Combs, when informed the Negro had been lynched, an hour after his removal from the jail, telegraphed the details to Gov. Ruby Laffoon at Frankfort, Kentucky, law requires that the Governor remove any jailer surrendering a prisoner to a mob and grant him a hearing to determine if he shall be reinstated.

Missing Man's Safety Today

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Federal operatives struck out on a new trail today seeking to solve the eight-day enigma of the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer, held for $200,000 ransom, by running down the source of two anonymous notes, supposedly penned by the abductors.

Although the contents of the missives were not disclosed, it was understood they contained instructions for meeting the kidnappers at their rendezvous for ransoming the son of the principal owner of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co.

One of the missives, unsigned, was received Tuesday at the Minneapolis postoffice. The other was brought in yesterday. Both were collected from different mail boxes in that city in the regular course of routine. They were unstamped and addressed to Adolph Bremer, father of the missing man.

Govt. Agents Active
T. C. Robertson, postmaster, turned them over to Werner Hann, head of the St. Paul office of the Bureau of Investigation.

Justice Department investigators considered the possibility the notes might have been the work of a crank.

Meanwhile, as hour after hour elapsed without any apparent word from the kidnappers, apprehension for the missing man's safety grew.

Bremer, 37-year-old president of the Commercial State Bank, was seized eight days ago after he had left his 8-year-old daughter at school.

MODERN CARRIE

Says Police Won't Act
So She Wrecks Place and Takes Her Son

Carterville, Ill., Jan. 25.—(AP)—This county, once heralded as the "Bloody Williamson" because of its mine, Ku Klux Klan, gang and political wars, but peaceful of late, was agog today over a modern Carry Nation.

A quiet church worker, Mrs. Charles Gower, told how she raided single-handed an alleged gambling place across the street from the postoffice here and, after demolishing almost everything in sight, took her married son home with her.

"The officers wouldn't raid that place," she said, "so I did it. And they can expect me back, if I ever find my son there again."

Police Are Surprised
"I'm still trying to find out something about it," Norman A. Walker, Night Chief of Police, said today. "I've been on the job for fourteen years and never heard of open gambling here."

"Why," asserted Mrs. Gower, "those fellows running that place were so bold that they visited CWA projects, told the workers where they were running a game and invited them to come in."

Mrs. Gower said her younger son came home Tuesday night and told her his brother was in the place. Without stopping to take off his apron, she went there, she said, pretended she had a pistol, lined sixteen men against the wall, tore up all the cards, wrecked all alleged gambling equipment, gathered up all the money she could find and departed, taking her son with her.

"The money I took," she said, "was what my son had when he went there."

Keeps Men In Line
While staging her raid, Mrs. Gower related, one of the men tried to flee.

"I'll blow up anyone who tries to leave this room," she said she told him. "He got back into line."

"The Johnston City Progress, edited by R. W. Jones, for several weeks has been conducting a crusade against gambling in Williamson County, especially Johnston City."

The editor's son, Harris W. Jones, a reporter on the newspaper, said that people he talked to in Centerville "heartily approved."

MILK PRICE

Due to prevailing unusual conditions, it is impractical for the Borden Company to announce in advance the price it will pay for fluid milk delivered and accepted.
Therefore, until further notice, the price for fluid milk will not be announced until after said milk is delivered and accepted. The price will be published within five (5) days after the period for which the company will have heretofore announced the price in advance.

Milk Depot Bombed

at Chicago Heights

Early this Morning

Chicago, Jan. 25—(AP)—A distribution plant of the Farmer Products Dairy Company in Chicago Heights, selling milk at 8 cents a quart, was wrecked with a black powder bomb today.
Police said that the front of the building was blown out and that the blast had badly damaged several nearby buildings. A family across the street was thrown from its beds. The store had been open about a week. The regular price of milk in Chicago is 10 cents.
A detail of detectives was stationed at the plant, to await the arrival of the owner, whom police believed to be W. R. Brown of Joliet. Brown's plant in Joliet was wrecked by picketers during the recent milk strike and he was waylaid by strikers who threatened his life after dumping his load of milk.

Salesman Abducted

and Robbed of $175

Danville, Ill., Jan. 25—(AP)—H. E. Weaver, salesman for a Terre Haute, Ind., wholesale grocery firm was abducted at Paris, Ill., last night by two men and a woman. Weaver was forced to drive the party to Danville, where he was robbed of $175 in currency.

Ralph Ford, 28 and Nora Swain, alias Mrs. Elizabeth Gray, 28, both of Danville, were arrested at Chicago this morning as suspects when they arrived on a bus. Officials hunted the third member of the trio.

Not including army, navy and C. C. C., there are 566,350 persons in this country on the Federal payroll.

slaying, Miss Anderson said, with Kempster.

She testified of spending most of Tuesday with Kempster, riding with him in his automobile to Aurora "and another agent." She was putting on her coat in the bedroom, she said, when the two men known as "Bill" and "Joe" entered the apartment, and she left for the movie without seeing them.

Went To Night Club

Miss Anderson said she, Mrs. White, and a man friend returned from the movie, then decided, without entering the White apartment, to go to a night club.

"We came back after attending the club," she said, "put the car in the garage and were approaching the house when we saw a crowd. Nancy (Mrs. White) said let's get a cup of coffee someplace. We went back to the garage and found a police squad waiting."

Mrs. White, who had identified for police a picture of O'Donnell as the man she knew as "Bill," could not recall the man who was with her.

Miss Anderson admitted she had "visited at White's cottage in Sterling." The inquiry was continued.

CO. TAXPAYERS

the following announcement:

Your Need of This Organization

The Federal Constitution commands that taxes be spread "according to population"—but less than 1-5 are assessed. And that 1-5 are chiefly our people—the home and farm owners. Our state constitution commands that taxes be "uniform"—instead, less than 1-4 of the wealth is taxed. And that 1-4 is owned chiefly by our people

—all the protection of organized government for which they pay no direct tax.

Thus the tax dodgers are penalizing our home-loving, home-owning, tax-paying citizens. This will not do. No free people will abide such a penalty for citizenship. For the Declaration of Independence directs that "when government fails to protect the people in their right

the power returns to them."

In Washington's time there was one officer to each 1000 persons.

In Lincoln's day there was one officer to each 400 people. Today there is one officer to each 60 persons. And of the present population one in 10 feels at the public trough. And you, Mr. Taxpayer, are one of the bread daddies. How do you like it?

Our taxfather—Xavier F. Gehant—seeing these conditions all about him with friends and neighbors losing their homes through tax sales and mortgage foreclosures

resolved to see what could be done to unite against this evil. The work of this Association is the result.

Some Association Activities Benefitting You

This association was organized in May, 1932.

Resolutions were offered the Board of Review recommending that the 1932 tax levy be reduced

1-3 over 1931 as a basis for providing an equitable assessment for 1933 taxes.

Remonstrated in the local press and to County Treasurer Schrock against tax sales and tax certificate "racketeers," however "legal"

the acts might be.

Resolution were offered Gov.

Horne, public officials and candidates, recommending a 1-3 reduction of expenditures, including salaries, during the depression.

January 1, 1933, recommendations were sent to Gov. Horner for

(a) The enactment of a modern equitable system of taxation, including a one per cent tax limit on all incomes and property based on a full fair cash value, uniform, as per our state constitution.

(b) The invalidation of all property, including income, not listed by the owner at its full fair cash value for taxation, just as our homes are listed.

(c) The enactment of a sales-transaction tax which would include corporations, merchants, professional men, bankers, stock brokers, and agents of all commercial activities who are protected by government in the market afforded them through the people.

(d) A welfare tax on the machine for employees displaced thereby,

according to the needs of welfare work and non-employment insurance for employees effected thereby.

(e) Legislation prohibiting tax exempt bonding.

(f) Reduction of all utility rates to the purchasing value of the dollar.

(g) Calling of bonds where possible and refinancing at a lower rate of interest.

tended the Illinois Taxpayers As-

Inaugurate Winter Out Door Program For Girl Scouts

The recent school of instruction of training for Girl Scout leaders and teachers, held in Dixon, with meetings at the I. N. O. Co. assembly room, proved of great interest and profit to those interested in Girl Scouting in Dixon. Miss Alice Mulkey, a national Girl Scout representative from Washington, D. C., gave much information and inspiration in her talks and addresses while here.

The Dixon Community Committee hopes to soon inaugurate a winter out-door program for Girl Scouts who are anxious to hike and put Scout lore to use in the woods.

As the Girl Scout program requires one adult to every eight girls, leadership is necessary to the success of this plan.

Anyone who genuinely enjoys contact with wide-awake, eager girls and would like to assist in a short hiking program is urged to become affiliated with the Girl Scout movement in Dixon. For further information, call the local director, Mrs. C. A. Hospers, at B476.

Home Bureau Members of Dixon Attend Champaign Meet

Home Bureau members of Lee County attending the Farm and Home Week at Champaign last week were: Mrs. Charles Ross, and Mrs. Alva Kugler of Harmon; Mrs. Buleah Welch, Mrs. James Wadsworth of Dixon, Miss Ethel Lewis, Miss Wolcott and Mrs. Florence Smyver, the Home Advisor of Amboy.

They report the second largest enrollment of the Conference with an attendance of 2970. 1109 were Home Bureau members. Henderson county carried the honors of first place at the play tournament given Thursday evening.

Miss Brooks, Health Specialist of the State University, conducted a training school at the Illinois Northern Utilities building for local leaders, Tuesday. Her subject: "All in a Nurses' Day," was both helpful and interesting. Miss Brooks has spent much time during the last month in Cook county returning from a C. W. S. meeting held in Chicago last week. She reports a replacement of 435 nurses in Illinois during the period from December 9 to January 20, 120 were placed in Cook county hospital alone; 62 in Visiting Nurses Association to teach Home Care of the Sick; 156 in Chicago Public Health services and the remaining 113 were placed in the remaining counties of the state.

Miss Brooks next appearance in Lee county will be in April, at which time she will give a public lecture entitled, "Health After Forty." Those who have heard Miss Brooks will not want to miss her lecture and others will be delighted with her charming personality and interesting talk. The date and place will be published later.

Meeting of Dixon Am. Legion Auxiliary

The Dixon Legion Auxiliary held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. Frank Chapman of 209 May Court invited the members and friends to an all day "carpet rag sewing" next Wednesday Jan. 31st. Picnic dinner at noon. All who can will please attend as we have considerable rags on hand and want to get them sewed so they can be sent to the Veterans hospital at North Chicago.

Members will please remember the food and doughnut sale to be held at the Highway Cafe on First street, Saturday, January 27th. Send your donations as early as possible.

MRS. FERGUSON TO ATTEND DINNER
Mrs. R. M. Ferguson will attend the annual dinner given for the exhibiting artists at the Art Institute in Chicago. The dinner is to be given at the Institute on January 31st, next Wednesday. Mrs. Ferguson recently had a picture accepted and hung in the Institute galleries, which is conceded an honor by all artists, and critics.

Rev. W. E. Thompson Receives Second Happy Birthday Surprise

The Wednesday evening prayer and consecration services at the Brethren church have been well attended and the pastor, Rev. William E. Thompson always expects a good attendance, but last night the attendance was unusually good, and since those attending had to come through the rain to be present, the pastor tried to show his appreciation and have a good service. There seemed to be a fine spirit prevailing and every one was cheerful, happy and thankful, and the service continued just a little longer than usual. Just as the service was dismissed another group entered the church parlors with baskets containing something good to eat, and reminding the pastor that he had recently had a birthday. A very pleasant time followed as neighbors and friends visited together, and everyone had some suggestion to make to the pastor about the good attendance at prayer meeting and his birthday. W. A. Dicky offered thanks to the heavenly Father for his blessing and then cake and fruit salad was served in generous helpings to all who were present.

Everyone enjoyed the evening and all wished for Mr. Thompson many more happy birthdays. Rev. and Mrs. Thompson are very grateful to their many friends who have remembered them and appreciate the loyal support they are receiving in this city in their pastoral work.

Pauline Frederick Is Led to Altar Again

Scarsdale, N. Y., Jan. 25 —(AP)—The marriage of Pauline Frederick, stage and screen star, and Joseph A. Marmon, who gave his address as Washington, D. C., was disclosed today.

The couple drove here Sunday, arriving at noon, the license was issued by Town Clerk Edward Jackson. The record shows the actress gave her age as 50 years and her residence as Beverly Hills, Cal. She said she had been married three times, and that these marriages had ended in divorce.

Marmon said he was 58 years old, that this was his first marriage and that his address was the Army & Navy Club, Washington, D. C.

After obtaining the license the couple went to the residence of the Rev. Edward S. Boynton, where they were married at 1 P. M.

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER LAST EVENING
Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Anderson of Route 3 entertained a few friends at dinner last evening in honor of the host's birthday anniversary. Green and white were the attractive decorations. After dinner a happy evening was spent in cards. On departing all wished Mr. Anderson many happy returns of the day.

Makes Report On Prevention Of Blindness

Miss Audrey M. Hayden, Executive Secretary of the Illinois Society for Prevention of Blindness, has just released the annual report of the society in which she states that last year was the most successful year in its history.

On a budget of $19,000 per year, the society has rendered direct service to 205 cities in 61 counties.

The most signal victory of the year was the passage of the Silver Nitrate Bill. The society also lobbied through the legislature $120,000 for Boards of Education throughout the state for sight-saving classes for children with defective vision.

Six new sight-saving classes were opened—2 in Chicago, 2 in Jacksonville, 1 in Decatur and 1 in Danville. As only 12 new classes were opened in the whole United States, Illinois has reason to be proud of this record.

20,365 school children had visual acuity tests given them by the nurses of the society and 1,849 children were found to have defective vision. Of these, 705 have already had their vision corrected by the fitting of glasses.

Local people interested in the work of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness are: Mrs. C. B. Morrison, D. B. Chapman, Mrs. Florence Plummer White, Mrs. Robert Ball, Henry Hey and Dr. A. F. Moore.

Mutual Aid Society Met Wednesday

The Palmyra Mutual Aid Society members were very pleasantly entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Charles Lawton. Twenty-five members partook of the delicious picnic dinner at noon.

During the social afternoon the president called the meeting to order. The Lord's Prayer was repeated. Mrs. Laura Scholl read the Scripture Lesson. The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were read and approved. Two letters to the society were read. It was decided to hold the next meeting in three weeks. Mrs. Frank Beede graciously invited the Aid to meet with her at that time. Roll call was responded to by "Embarrassing Moments," which proved highly enjoyable.

The collection plate was passed. Mrs. Anna Buhler presented interesting games which were greatly enjoyed.

As the afternoon waned everyone departed for their homes, after thanking Mrs. Lawton for a lovely day.

Past Matrons, O. E. S. Club to Meet

The Past Matrons Club of Dorothy Chapter No. 371, O. E. S. will be entertained at bridge-dinner, Saturday, January 27, by Mrs. David Marks and Miss Edna Decker. Dinner will be served at Rice's and the balance of the afternoon will be spent at the home of Miss Decker.

CHORAL CLUB TO MEET TONIGHT
The Presbyterian Choral Club will meet for rehearsals at the church at 7 o'clock this evening.

Military Order of Lizards Had Installation Tuesday Eve

The Military Order of the Lizards held their installation of officers Tuesday evening in the G. A. R. hall. All those taking part were dressed in the original costumes of the gay nineties. These ladies gave the spectators many healthy laughs. Past Grand Go Go Dave Helmick acted as installing officer and Past Go Go Charles Bott acted as conductor. The officers installed were:

Gila Monster Hila Helmick
Gecko Delia Bott
Catepeton Gertrude May
Iguana Dorothy Helmick
Dragon Kathleen Goodwin
A Dragon Nan McGinnis
Salamander Mable Cushing
Agama Etta Tourtellott
Chameleon Phoebe Pumphrey
Horn Toad Dora Heit
Siredon Lottie Horton

A delightful program was enjoyed by those attending including the following numbers.

Duet—Irma Weed and Charlotte Risley
Readings—Vivian White and sister Evelyn
The International Four sang several numbers and played old and new time music in their enjoyable style.

Violin and piano duet—Donald and Lester Kieffer
The Golden Chord Ensemble, leader, Myron Austin, gave several numbers, both old and new and greatly varied. These were applauded loudly by the audience.

Light refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Several organizations were represented and a delightful evening was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Miller Hostess to Art Club Tuesday Afternoon

The Phidian Art Club was delightfully entertained on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ray Miller. Mrs. Kirby Reed being the assistant hostess.

Mrs. R. M. Ferguson gave an instructive paper on "Photography," a subject on which she is well qualified to speak, being an artist who has won merited recognition for her paintings and her portrait work. She discussed the technical and artistic phases of the graphic art of photography and stressed the fact that it has become a real art and that the photographer can now express himself in his work, the camera and its parts serving as the tools for the artist, and composition being as important as painting.

Mrs. Ferguson displayed several prize winning photographs made by her brother, Edward T. Howell. These were beautiful and artistic views of the Century of Progress buildings, and of the dunes of Indiana, enlarged from small snapshots.

The large number of members present all enjoyed the interesting paper, and the splendid examples of the fine art of photography.

To complete the afternoon, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. A. Ahrens, served delicious refreshments.

Birthday Ball In Moose Hall

The Moose Hall has been chosen as the scene of the Birthday Ball for the President to be held here January 30th. Walter Mueller, Chairman of the Arrangements Committee, said today. The celebration, returns from which will go towards the endowment fund for the Georgia, Warm Springs Foundation for infantile paralysis, will begin at 9:00 o'clock. The hall is being donated by Dement Schuler and Harry Schuler.

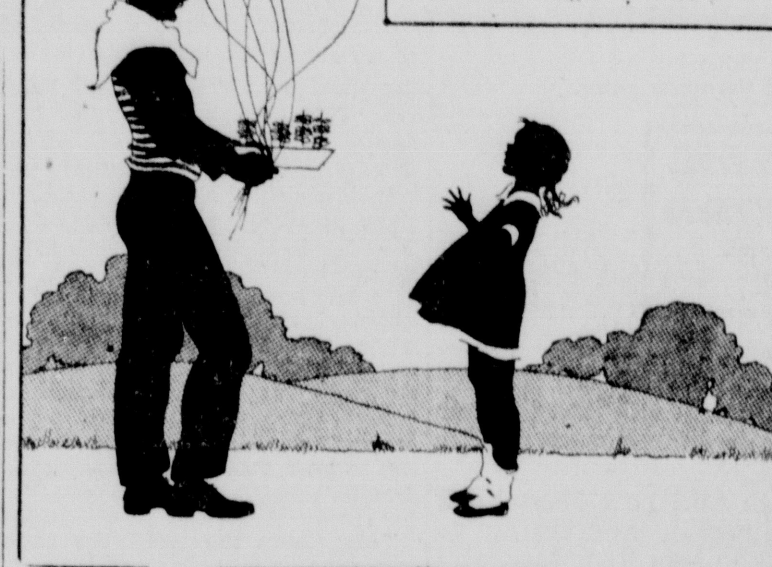

The orchestra, composed of Dudley Friedline, Harry Hintz, Earl Sennett, Wallace Smith, Emil Magnified, Robert Kenaga, Flora Horner, Phil Sargent, Russell Mason, Ralph Grimes, Mrs. Myrtle Bishop, Dean Hall, Richard Belcher, with songs by Joe Ryan, is also donating its services for the cause.

Tickets will be sold by a committee of women who have been appointed by the chairman, as follows: Mrs. Cal Tyler, chairman; Mrs. Robert Shaw, Mrs. S. C. Stanfield and Mrs. Edward Valle. The

Husbands Entertained at Chicken Dinner

The ladies of the Practical Club were delightfully entertained Tuesday evening by the husbands at the North Shore Cafe with a delicious chicken dinner, during which the Dixon Harmony Boys dispensed music, both vocal and instrumental. Following the dinner the ladies and escorts motored to the hospitable home of Mrs. Lester Street where all enjoyed a jolly good social time of singing, charades and old-fashioned games until a late hour. At the close of the gala occasion the ladies of the club expressed their thanks for an evening of much pleasure and voted the honorary members most genial hosts and royal entertainers.

MRS. HOSPERS TO ADDRESS WOMAN'S CLUB

Mrs. C. A. Hospers will address the Dixon Woman's Club at their regular meeting to be held Saturday, January 27th at the Christian church.

Mrs. Hospers is a graduate of the University of Chicago. She is the director of the Girl Scouts in Dixon. Within the last year she has taken a trip around the world. It was while on this trip that she secured much of the material she will use while talking to the club on the subject of "Japanese Art." Her talk is sure to be one of great interest to every one.

THERE'S JUST ONE WAY TO END RACKETING.

Sometimes an ordinary news article in the daily paper can be more educational than whole columns of careful exposition and exhortation.

A sample is a recent story which told how New York police, unshackled by Mayor LaGuardia, are trying to stamp out racketeers at the famous Fulton Fish Market.

This market happens to be the largest wholesale fish trading center in the country, doing an annual business of around $25,000,000. Dealers, called before a police inspector, who is looking into the racket, testified that as a group they have been paying a certain racketeering ring $5000 a year for protection.

Every truck that lands at the docks has to pay a fee; every truck that enters the market also has to pay.

And the dealers weren't especially anxious to have the police try to drive the racketeers out. Everything worked smoothly, they said. Paying the $5000-a-year fee was a nuisance, of course, but it works; they did get protection.

Every so often some sneak thief would steal a basket of fish or something, but as soon as the "protective association" was notified, the stolen goods would be returned.

Thus you get the first picture; racketeers levying their toll in an efficient and businesslike manner, staging a theft now and then, and returning the loot immediately afterward, to demonstrate the dealers' need of their services. Now listen to the other side of it.

Last winter a patrolman who didn't believe in racketeers was assigned to duty at the market. He cracked down on the gangsters; he found one collecting tribute from an aged dealer, and he beat the daylight out of him.

For two weeks the market was entirely free of racketeers. Then a Tammany-controlled police administration transferred the cop out of there, and the order returned in full swing.

Now Police Inspector Lewis J. Valentine tells the dealers that they might just as well save their $5000 a year. If they will refuse to pay, he says, and will testify freely whenever they are threatened, the police can break up the racketeering ring completely.

"The racketeers will run like yellow dogs with their tails between their legs, if a good cop cracks them on the jaw," he remarks.

All this is deeply instructive. It shows just how a racket is worked and just how it can be stopped. To work it, you need political influence and a set of business men who would pay tribute rather than stand up for their rights. To stop it you need only honest cops and fearless business men.

The way to stamp out racketeering, after all, is simple. You just stamp it out.

NO MORE "PULL."

It is good to see that the administration is ridding Washington of those slick gentlemen who have combined practice at law with the holding of high party office.

Such attorneys have been a regular feature of life at the capital for years. A man who is a national committeeman of the party in power hangs out his shingle in Washington, and permits the public to believe that because of his political influence he is a good man to hire to fix things, to arrange things, to intervene in hearings before government boards.

This racket has been worked for a long time, and it has not reflected any great amount of credit on the men involved. Most of the time, of course, the self-appointed fixer does not really have the influence he pretends to have, and the cases he handles turn out about as they would if an ordinary lawyer handles them.

But the racket has an unpleasant odor, and President Roosevelt does well to hit it sharply on the head.

EAGLE'S SCREAM IS HEARD.

There is a general disposition among commentators on the recovery program to assume that the Blue Eagle campaign is falling short because the consuming public is not supporting it. Once in a while something happens to indicate that this assumption is mistaken.

A Cleveland (O.) restaurant lost its Blue Eagle some time ago on order of General Johnson, because it failed to comply with the code. The other day the proprietor filed papers pleading for restoration of the emblem, promising to observe the code fully, and asserting that the restaurant's profits have dropped by 50 per cent since the Blue Eagle was taken away.

Here is pretty direct evidence that the consuming public does support the NRA program. The Blue Eagle has a solid cash value, in spite of what the critics say.

If you don't believe it, ask the man who has lost his.

The way to get along is to work hard, make yourself useful, and mind your own business.—David Sim, Canadian commissioner of excise.

The whole future of the recovery program is jeopardized by the grave omission to provide full, equal, and aggressive consumer representation.—Dr. F. J. Schlink, president of Consumers' Research.

I guess we'll have to get married in self-defense.—Isabel Jewell, on rumor she secretly was wed to Lee Tracy?

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Scouty pushed big chunks of ice out of the way. "It is working nice," he shouted to the others. "This strange boat is moving now."

"I guess, unless something goes wrong, we will soon be speeding right along. I am getting tired. Who wants to take my place, here at the bow?"

"I will," said Doty. "Now don't smile. I will show you in a little while, that I am plenty strong enough to do my share of work."

"We've left the big ice chunks behind. They are small now. That is why I don't mind. I am not going to let a soul on board say that I shirk."

"Ah, that's the girl," the captain cried. "Before we are through you will have a ride that you will never forget, Miss. You will be glad you have done your share."

"Poor Windy still is shoveling coal, and doing fine work, bless his soul. I think someone should relieve him. I am sure he will not care."

"Okay! No sooner said than done," cried Coppy. "This is lots of fun." And to the furnace room he ran. Wee Windy cried "Hurray! I'm tired of being in this hole, and now you are going to shovel coal. Gee thanks a whole lot, Coppy. I will go on deck and play."

The captain, in the meantime, was a very busy man because he planned to do some fishing and his line was in a mess.

At last it was straightened. With a swish, he tossed it out—and caught a fish. Cried Scouty, "That is the biggest fish I have seen, I guess."

The fish then jerked and flopped about and then the bunch heard Scouty shout, "Hey, help me with the captain. He is falling overboard."

When Coppy heard the call, he ran and grabbed the awkward-looking man. "Oh, hang on tight, and pull me in," the captain loudly roared.

Daily Health Talk

THE PROBLEM OF ANEMIA

We breathe first with our lungs and then with our red blood cells. The red blood cells carry oxygen from the lungs to all the cells of the body. In order to sustain cellular respiration the blood must be moved with a given speed and there must be what is called an optimal number of red cells (approximately five million to the cubic millimeter.)

The cells also must have a sufficient amount of the iron-containing substance known as hemoglobin.

Anemia may be caused in one of three ways: first, by the direct loss of blood through hemorrhage; secondly, by the destruction of blood within the body by other disease processes; and thirdly, anemia may be due to the inadequate rebuilding of blood because of defective digestion or assimilation of certain chemical ingredients present in the food which are needed in the composition of hemoglobin or red blood cells.

When anemia is due to the direct loss of blood by hemorrhage arresting the bleeding is usually followed by prompt recovery. The normal person is able to rebuild and restore the entire amount of lost blood within a few weeks or a month after the hemorrhage occurred.

In severe cases and where it is desirable to shorten the period of recovery, a blood transfusion may be resorted to.

The anemias due to other disease conditions are of course treated by the elimination of the underlying condition.

Chronic infection in any part of the body is a prominent cause of this type of anemia. Blood transfusions may also be resorted to in such cases, but they are only temporarily palliative.

INTERPRETATION OF CEMENT CODE ASKED BY STATE

Illinois Desires to Buy Cement from the Makers

BULLETIN

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Acting Director Robert Kingery of the Department of Public Works has said the state would probably call for cement bids for the 1934 highway construction requirements within a few days.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The recovery administration was asked Wednesday by Acting Director Robert Kingery of the Department of Public Works and Buildings to interpret a cement code ruling announced from Washington yesterday.

If General Johnson's exemption will permit the state to purchase cement for normal yearly requirements, Kingery said, Illinois probably will advertise for bids.

Missouri and Illinois joined in protesting recently against the code provision, which the Horner administration contends is discriminatory, forbidding states from purchasing cement except for specific projects under contract. Meanwhile, no purchases are being made by Illinois.

"Contractors on immediate state road projects are permitting to furnish their own cement requirements, but on their own and not the state's credit," Kingery said.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

STANDARDS OF THE KINGDOM

By WM. E. GILROY

(Editor of the Congregationalist)

The Kingdom of Heaven begins in blessedness, and blessings are the portion of all who enter into it and who continue in it. Not blessings as the world too often counts them. Not the blessings of ease or of pleasure or of material satisfactions.

Jesus never promised to his followers, and to those who would establish the truth in their hearts and lives, an easy way. On the contrary, it was to these that he offered burdens and sacrifices and ways of service.

Our lesson begins in what have been called the Beatitudes—that is, the roll of blessings. It is instructive to study the blessings that are promised and those to whom they are offered. They offer to the persecuted and the harried inner peace and satisfaction, but beyond this they express also great spiritual laws or compensations that are operative in life.

The poor in spirit—that is, the ingenuous, honest, simple, earnest souls, who are not concerned about worldly gain, or power, or anything that enables them to dominate over their fellowmen—have the blessing of the Kingdom of Heaven.

The blessing of comfort is offered to those who mourn. It is very doubtful whether those who never have mourned ever have discovered the real meaning of comfort. There are spiritual satisfactions that one can know and understand only as one has felt the need of them through suffering and sorrow.

Perhaps the strangest of all the blessings is the pronouncement of the inheritance of the earth for the meek. It seems to contradict almost all the experiences of human life, where it is apparently the aggressive, and the selfish, and the exacting, who win the greatest rewards. But it will be asked whether the success of these is as great as it seems.

It was this same Jesus who pronounced these blessings, who inquired concerning the worth of a man who had all the world, but who had lost his own soul. Surely the world is full today of people who have attained great world success, who seem to inherit the earth, but in whose lives there is little that makes the soul either glorious or worthwhile.

Does not experience, when we search into its meaning, reveal something of the truth that Jesus emphasized? The blessings upon the merciful, and the pure in heart, and the peacemakers, speak for themselves.

The framers of this lesson have shown insight and good judgment in attaching to the Beatitudes the closing verses of the fifth chapter of Matthew, which lay stress upon the good human life as like the life of God in the bountifulness of its love and magnanimity.

This triumphant description of the good life is closely related to the way of blessing. It is a life in which man is lifted into a different atmosphere from that of worldly and selfish passions and interests. It is a life in which even toward one's enemies reconstructive powers begin to operate when one meets enmity not with enmity, but with love.

Selfishness never can conquer selfishness, hate never can conquer hate, but when one meets selfishness with unselfishness, a foundation is laid for something new. There is a revelation of spiritual value.

And when one meets hate with love, he has met something that is strong and deep with something that is even stronger and deeper. But there is no blessedness apart from the commitment of life to truth and righteousness and love.

SPORTS
OF ALL SORTSPETROLLE SENDS
INDIAN BLANKET
TO LAUNDRYMANKnows He's Through After Last Night's Defeat by Ross

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Uncle Will Petrolle, a sturdy up-standing citizen, was back in the ranks of the unemployed today, a former prize fighter, with nothing to worry about except a bit of bond clipping now and then and that cigar store he owns in Duluth.

The old fellow folded his sun-colored Indian blanket and packed it away for the last time, ready to accept as final the ten round bet-ting Barney Ross of Chicago, light-weight champion, gave him in the Bronx Coliseum last night.

"I'm going to send this to the laundry now," he said, which was absolute proof that he never in-tends to fight again.

A dozen years ago, back in Fargo Petrolle started a ring career that never quite carried him to cham-pionship heights but did bring him into conflict with the greatest lightweights of this decade, as well as into possession of a lot of cur-rency which he still has, in con-trast to most ex-prize fighters.

Doesn't Need Blanket
He got his blanket from some Indian chief almost at the start of his campaign, he never would enter a ring without it. And he never would have it washed for fear the soap would take out all the luck, as well as the weird colors. Now he admits that his need for the blanket is gone.

"Tell them I'm through," he said as he shuffled down the ring steps in the big barn in the Bronx last night, thoroughly beaten by the brilliant little Ross. "I can't fight any more, so I'm not going to try."

Once before, several years ago, Petrolle retired because he thought his career was over. He rested a year or so and came back to rise to heights he had never reached before. He fought all the top-notch lightweights and three times he knocked Jimmy McLarnin, he belted Jimmy in scandalous fashion in their first match, but lost the next two.

This Is Different
This retirement, however, is dif-ferent, Petrolle is 29 in years, but much, very much older as far as the ring is concerned.

Against eager, dazzling Ross, he was really an old man, lost in the brilliance of a youngster who ranks with the best his division ever has produced.

He had only his inexhaustible courage, and that was far from enough against the master boxer, a sharp, thudding hitter with cith-hand. In only one round, the ninth, when Barney obviously was coasting, was Petrolle able to work his way laboriously to close quar-ters and gain the upper hand. Bar-ney beat him once before in Chi-cago.

Decision Unanimous
Every other round, and the uni-nimous decision of the judges, the referee and the 12,045 of the faith-ful who journeyed far into the Bronx for the battle, went to Ross. Ross shook the veteran badly at times, but never could flog him or bring him close to the knockout stage. His jabs, though, raised two large welts under Billy's eyes. The fact that Uncle Will was in the last mile was correctly guessed by the betters, who made Barney a 3 to 1 favorite, despite Petrolle's weight advantage. Billy weighed 141 1-2, Ross 136 3-4.

New York hasn't seen such a turnout in several years. Five min-utes after the show started every bit of space in the uptown barn was filled and at least 6,000 strug-gled with mounted police outside to get at ticket windows already closed.

After expenses and the fighters are paid, the net profits on the $36,566 receipts will be turned over to a Christmas fund charity.

Officials of Madison Square Garden, in the heart of the fight district downtown, gazed in awe at the assemblage. Garden fight shows recently have been drawing an average of about $8,000 each.

Iowa's Absentees
Show Up in West:
Express Surprise

Los Angeles, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Two personable young men recent-ly freshmen basketball stars of the University of Iowa—Duane Swanson and Wayne Froning—cropped in at the University of Southern California campus yesterday to find that since they had left Iowa they had become the center of an argument which might blight their college future.

"It all was news to us," said Swanson, whose home is in Water-man, Ill., when the pair was in-formed that Coach Rollie Williams Hawkeye cage mentor, had charged that someone connected with the University of Southern California had enticed them away.

But they are not going back to Iowa. Swanson and Froning want-ed that point clear. Froning '35 from Webster, Iowa.
"We came out here with the idea of enrolling at Southern Califor-nia," they said. "No one said any-thing to us about it. We'd heard a lot about the school and were dis-satisfied at Iowa. So we just hop-ped a freight train and here we are."

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Louis Lasiter, the six foot, eight inch pivot giant at Illinois College, had a 12 point lead today over his nearest rival and teammate, Jim Winn, in the race for individual scoring honors in the Little Nine-teen basketball campaign.

Lasiter and Winn had a close scoring duel last night as Illinois College swamped Shurtleff, 62 to 22 in a conference encounter, but La-siter won. The giant center scored 22 points, as many as the whole Shurtleff team, to 17 by Winn. The scoring orgy gave Lasiter a to-tal of 97 points to 85 for Winn.

Benny Westlake, another con-tender for individual scoring hon-ors, also had a big night, scoring 17 points as his DeKalb mates beat Elmhurst 47 to 24. Westlake's total is 64 for five conference games.

TREASURY-POST OFFICE BILL IS GIVEN CONGRESS

Provides $820,693,270 for Operation Two Departments

Washington, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The House of Appropriations committee has recommended $820,693,270 for operating the Treasury and Postoffice departments during the next fiscal year, representing a $403,623,327 decrease from the current allotment and a $683,830 cut in the budget estimates.

The report, submitted to the House, also showed an increase in annual public debt service requirements of $185,429,629 in view of the increase of the public debt to $23,534,000,000 as of November 30, 1933.

This brought the total annual debt service requirements to $1,350,067,850, including $25,738,850 for the sinking fund and $824,349,000 for interest.

P. O. Gets $670,850,940 The Treasury was allotted $149,842,330 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and the Post Office department $670,850,940.

While the public debt and other permanent annual and indefinite appropriations amounting to $1,363,494,000 are reported in the supply bill, the money is withdrawn for payments automatically and Congress does not pass on them.

In reporting the bill, Chairman Arnold (D. Ill.) of the subcommittee in charge, said the group was "not inclined to make any increase in the present rate of expenditure until all investigations and studies of air mail contracts and practices have been completed."

The Post Office as well as a Senate committee, he said, is inquiring into the air and ocean mail subsidy contracts. However, the report said:

Air Mail Justified "Air mail service should be provided where it is justified, the contractors should be fairly compensated and the interests of the government should be amply protected."

"The committee has no means of knowing what the right sum to appropriate may be and until the results of these studies and investigations lead to a sound conclusion the position of standing on the present rate of expenditure is adopted even though it may be arbitrary in character."

The committee allotted $14,000,000 for domestic air mail, $1,000,000 less than for this year; $37,500,000 for foreign air and ocean mail, or $800,000 less than for the current period. Of the latter, $7,000,000 is for foreign air mail.

GREEK COUNCIL OF STATE SAYS INSULL MUST GO

Holds Ministerial Decree of Expulsion Is Legal

Athens, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Supreme State Council rejected Samuel Insull's final appeal and thus placed the official stamp of legality upon the government's action that he must seek another refuge at the end of this month.

The council ordered the former Chicago utilities operator to pay the costs of the proceedings.

Insull appealed after the Minister of the Interior refused to extend his residence permit beyond January 31 and thus enable him to continue evading extradition to the United States by remaining in his Athenian retreat.

Twice before Greek courts had held in Insull's favor in cases through which the United States sought his extradition to face charges of larceny, embezzlement and violation of bankruptcy laws.

The formal announcement said today that the Minister of the Interior's decision constituted in itself an administrative act and therefore was a matter which could be dealt with by the Council.

It was added, however, that the evidence before the Council plainly showed the decision had had the consequence of influencing Greece's foreign relations and therefore the matter became a governmental and not an administrative act.

Many Attended The Funeral of Edward Brundage Tuesday

More than 2000 people filed past the bier of the late Edward J. Brundage, former Attorney General of Illinois, preceding Masonic funeral rites conducted in the Oriental Consistory in Chicago Tuesday, by the Lincoln Park Commandery, Knights Templar, of which Mr. Brundage was a Past Commander. Burial was in Rosehill cemetery.

Political leaders who attended the Masonic services praised the deceased's record as a legislator, Corporation Counsel of Chicago, Attorney General and Republican leader.

Private religious services were conducted Monday afternoon at the Brundage Lake Forest home by Dr. Robert W. Prince, pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit.

Color of Canaries Canaries probably will be in any color of the spectrum. Canaries originally were green at the place of their origin, the Canary Islands. As the yellow canary became popular, breeders began to apply the Mendelian law in selective breeding to obtain white ones. They have been produced in black, cinnamon and blue.

Always bear in mind that the Borden company is a valuable asset to our community.

Mailey's Twin Rises to Fame

Fame is coming to Rosemarie Brancato, above, almost exactly as it did to Marion Talley. Both are from Kansas City; both made their debuts in the same opera role; and Rosemarie has taken Marion's place in the Chicago Grand Opera cast.

"CONSUMERS" ENDORSE ACT OF MERCHANTS

Addition of Tax to Merchandise Cost is Approved

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce Bulletin contained the following letter from a consumer:

"We heartily endorse action to be taken on January 15 when thousands of retail merchants in Illinois will begin to add the two per cent Occupational Sales Tax as a separate item of merchandise cost. There has been a false conception in the consumers' mind that it is possible for the merchants actually to absorb the tax. If it is 'absorbed,' it means that the merchants will have to raise their prices high enough to take care of the tax through an addition to their charges, which the patron will have to pay. In other words, we are not getting out of the tax by 'absorption,' we simply pay it in a higher priced article. This small two per cent tax makes it possible to lighten somewhat the burden which has fallen so heavily on real estate owners by doing away for the current year with the state property tax; and we should understand this thoroughly. If we do not realize that we are being taxed or know for what purpose the proceeds are being used, we have no way of forming a considered judgment as to the fairness of our tax system. Consumers who cooperate with merchants in this open method of handling the occupational tax will have the satisfaction of knowing what they are doing and will very probably save themselves some money, as it is exceedingly difficult for a merchant consistently to 'mark up' all his articles when he is 'absorbing' the tax."

Square Miles in United States Continental United States contains an area of 3,026,789 square miles (1,937,144,960 acres) of which 53,013 square miles (33,928,320 acres) is water surface which does not include any claims on oceans, Gulf of Mexico or the Great Lakes. Area of Alaska and the island possessions is placed at 711,000 square miles or 455,427,840 acres.

Fossilized America Not excluding the vast bone deposits of giant prehistoric animals in Argentina, Bolivia and Mongolia, the United States contains more fossilized remains of dinosaurs than any other country in the world.

FOUNDER AMBOY CREAMERY DIED LAST SATURDAY

K. S. Townsend Passed Away at Phoenix, Arizona, Friends Hear

By Frances Lepper

AMBOY—Word has been received here of the death of K. S. Townsend on Saturday, Jan. 20. Mr. Townsend founded the Sanitary Creamery Company of Amboy in 1902. During his ownership of the creamery it was considered the finest privately owned creamery in the state. The department of dairying at the University of Illinois had pictures of the local institution on the class room walls as a model creamery. This industry is still flourishing under the name of the Amboy Milk Products Company. Mr. Townsend was Canadian born, coming to the United States in 1889. He located at Shaw where he purchased the creamery. He worked up a large territory with skimming stations at Lee Center, Bradford, Sublette, Amboy and Maytown and also a creamery at West Brooklyn. He remained in Amboy only a few years, selling his business to the late J. C. MacKinnon, who preceded him in death almost a year ago. Since leaving this city Mr. Townsend had made his home at Phoenix, Ariz. On Dec. 22, 1932 Mr. and Mrs. Townsend celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. He was ill just six weeks in the beautiful big hospital at Phoenix of which he was the founder and held the office of president at the time of his passing.

A Weighty Problem for This Proud Papa

Anna Chornokal was only four days old when this picture was taken at her Chester, Pa., home, but you can bet she's already going over big with her proud Papa, who is holding her up as an example of what a real husky baby should be. Anna, who weighed 13 1/2 pounds at birth, is taken in hand for another scale reading while her mother and Mrs. Tacianna Kuchapsky, the midwife, look on.

Mrs. Townsend is a sister of Mrs. J. C. MacKinnon of this city. Ned Rossiter of Dixon was a business caller here Tuesday.

Monday evening the members of the Amboy fire department and the Sublette fire department were entertained at an oyster supper by Mr. Vaasson. Those attending from visitor here Wednesday. He expects to leave for Los Angeles, Cal., the fore part of next week to enter an auto and electrical school.

The high school cagers will journey to Oregon Friday evening. Coach Traugher's lads have high hopes of winning this tussle. To date Amboy occupies the cellar position in the conference standing.

LaNora Lynch spent Wednesday night at the home of her friend, Lucille Glaser of Sublette.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wellman and family of Ransom were visitors at the P. S. Flach home Sunday.

C. A. Ford was a business caller in LaSalle Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Steven Parker have gone to Florida for the remainder of the winter.

John Tourtillo of Sublette attended the show here Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kline of Ottawa were called here this week by the illness and death of Mrs. Kline's mother.

Leslie Scott of Polo was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schaller of Ohio were visitors here Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wellman of Lee Center were visitors at the P. S. Flach home Sunday.

Gilbert Finch transacted business in Dixon Wednesday morning. Ralph Ruckman was a business caller in Dixon Wednesday.

Highway Commissioner Joe Grennan was in Dixon the fore part of the week on business in connection with the CWA projects in Amboy township.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Millay of Dixon attended the church supper and visited with friends here Wednesday evening.

NEW TROUBLES MARK STRIKE IN SO. CALIFORNIA

Two Wholesale Abductions Add to Strained Relations

Brawley, Calif., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Two wholesale abductions strained relations today between vegetable field strikers and farmers of the rich Imperial Valley of southern California.

Police, sheriff's deputies and state highway patrolmen guarded vantage points in an effort to preserve order.

Three lawyers and a woman were kidnapped from a crowded hotel lobby here Tuesday and subsequently released in scattered nearby towns after one of them apparently had been beaten. A little later four asserted Communists from San Diego were forcibly escorted from town with warnings not to return.

Trouble started when a group of unidentified men stalked into a crowded hotel lobby and made off with A. L. Wirin, representative of the American Civil Liberties Union, shortly before he was to have spoken before 1,500 Mexican workers.

Others Were Taken Grover C. Johnson, San Bernardino lawyer; his wife, and David Sokol, Los Angeles barrister, were also taken by the band of men when they followed the group out of the lobby trying to release Wirin.

A short time later Sokol was found here. Mrs. Johnson was discovered in nearby Imperial. She said her husband had gone into hiding. Wirin, his face slightly cut and bruised, turned up several hours later at Calatria, 15 miles away.

Sheriff George Campbell said immediate efforts would be made to apprehend those who molested the eight.

Brawley has been the center of a series of labor disputes in the vegetable fields for several weeks. Authorities have charged that Communist agitators were responsible for the bad feeling in the vegetable fields, saying most laborers wanted to work but were frightened by threats.

Route 6 Markers Are Being Removed from the Lincoln Highway

State highway maintenance men out of the Dixon office are this week removing the Route 6 markers from the Lincoln Highway in accordance with a new policy of the state highways department, which has decided to have nothing but the federal markers on the route, instead of both state and federal. The highway is U. S. No. 30 and extends east from Fulton to Geneva and then swerves south through Aurora, Joliet and Chicago Heights. Route 6 will remain only from Geneva to Chicago on the Roosevelt Road.

The London "social season" is worth about $15,000,000 to industry.

A large crowd attended the card party at the school hall on Sunday evening. In 500 the prizes were won by Hilda Bauer, Mrs.

CAMPAIGN IS ON TO GET COMPTON BANK RE-OPENED

A Fine Response Given Committee Named Monday Evening

Compton—One hundred percent response was accorded to the cause of the reorganization of the First National Bank here by the businessmen, at a meeting at the Compton opera house Monday evening.

The bank is now in the hands of Henry W. Gehant, receiver. Since the moratorium the bank has been under a conservatorship, which was terminated by Mr. Gehant's appointment last November. H. M. Chaon took charge of the meeting advancing the information received when he and Mr. Gehant called upon the Reorganization Department at Chicago. A plan whereby, with the sale of $25,000 additional capital stock, will, along with stockholders assessments and waivers, be necessary steps in bringing back the banking facilities that the community has benefited from during the past thirty-odd years. A committee consisting of A. C. Schneider, L. D. Miller and J. S. Archer will start their drive soon to obtain the necessary capital for the reorganization program.

"Our Gang" of the Ladies Aid will hold a food sale Saturday morning, January 27 from ten to twelve o'clock in Archer's restaurant. There will be pies, doughnuts and cakes.

Frank Ikeler stopped here Sunday enroute to his home in Rockford, after visiting the grave of his wife at Restland Cemetery at Mendota. He visited with Walter H. Archer.

Manager Wellington Chaon of the Compton Athletic Club has completed negotiations for an important game to be played at the C. H. S. gymnasium Friday evening, February 23rd. This game was arranged through Wayne Webber, a student at Illinois Wesleyan at Moomington, and the manager of a team called the Yates Chrysler Co., the members of which are college stars of Illinois Wesleyan.

"Our Gang" of the M. E. Ladies Aid will give a Valentine Party on

Odors Act as Warnings
Odors may act as warnings. Horses tethered in the woods become frantic when they catch the odor of moose or bear. A deer detects the scent of the hunter, and escapes. And the elephant will make an attack in the direction of human scent. Human beings, as well as animals, are warned by their sense of smell against decayed food, foul air, and polluted water.

Will you investigate our Accident Insurance Policy. No one can afford to be without it. Evening Telegraph.

Wednesday evening, Feb. 14.

Playing another "bang-up" game of basketball, the Compton high school team sailed away its third straight victory in as many starts in defeating Ashton 14-10. What advantages Ashton enjoyed in height and weight were easily offset by the fighting spirit of the Compton team. The game was nip and tuck clear through, with the count 6-4 at the half. High scoring honor went to David Kaufman of Compton, who netted 3 baskets and 3 free throws for nine points.

Compton Hospital
Mrs. John Holteger of Mendota, who underwent a serious operation two weeks ago is recovering nicely at her home.

Mrs. Steve Carnahan who suffered a fractured arm and severe bruises last week is recovering.

Mrs. Edward Weiler of Welland who underwent an appendectomy was taken to her home six days later.

Mrs. Wm. Otterbach is suffering from a severe sore throat.

Chris Mosimann, Jr., who dislocated his shoulder Sunday morning was a patient at the hospital during the past week.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Eich was operated on Sunday for a double hernia.

Mrs. John Sorenson of north of West Brooklyn is ill at her home.

Dr. C. G. Pool visited Friday evening at the home of his former classmate Dr. Russell Pettit of Ottawa, who accompanied him to Streator where they attended a medical meeting.

The Woman's Club of Compton held their regular meeting Monday evening, Jan. 15. The program consisted of a discussion of various phases of the New Deal by H. C. Barton of Paw Paw, which proved very interesting and instructive. Ten members signed for the reading course in Mental Hygiene.

Mrs. May Heinman and Miss C. A. Clow, R. N. of Chicago have been on duty at the hospital during the past week.

Dr. C. G. Pool spoke before the Woman's Club of Ashton on last Thursday afternoon, concerning his trip through the Orient.

"Pen Mightier Than Sword"
The line "The pen is mightier than the sword" occurs in Act 2, Scene 2, of Lytton's play "Richeieu," but a similar sentiment, "The pen worse than the sword," is much earlier, appearing in Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," written early in the Seventeenth century.

War and Peace
The war between England and America ended after years of terrific encounters, but the war in Ohio between the white men and the red men raged more fiercely after our peace with Great Britain than before.

STEEL OUTPUT FALLS OFF IN LARGE CENTERS

Expected Support in Other Lines Has Not Been Given

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—In the absence of expected support from the automobile industry, railroads and building trades, steel business has fallen off in most centers. "Iron Age" said. The review's national production average is 32 per cent of capacity, a point under last week.

"It is now clear," it said, "that steel production of late has been sustained in part by replenishment of inventories. Any gains that are made from now on will more accurately reflect increases in steel consumption."

"Prospects of an early expansion of demand are restricted mainly to the automobile industry. Although production difficulties have not been completely overcome by motor car builders, they are expected to release large tonnage orders within the next fortnight."

Business from the railroads and construction is lagging, the review pointed out.

"The ponderously slow operations of the government are also holding back construction work. While a large part of the public works fund has been allocated, a relatively small proportion of the steel required for government-financed projects has actually been replaced with the mills."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Karin' to Go

If you feel sore and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Reagent's substitute. 25¢ at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

One giant puff-ball was found to contain 7,000,000,000,000 spores, each capable of reproduction. These mushrooms sometimes grow to considerably more than a foot in diameter. Forunately, only a few of the spores germinate, and the species is not even common.

I. N. U. QUINTET CONTINUES LEAD OF CAGE LEAGUE

Won Sixth Straight Victory Last Evening Over Ashton

Games Next Week
Beier Loafers vs. Dixon Battery Shop.
I. N. U. Co. vs. Millway Hatchery.

Continuation of their winning streak to six games without a loss placed the I. N. U. Co. out in front by three full games in the feature game of last night's Commercial league basketball schedule. The leaders pulled out an 18-14 victory in the last three minutes of play. Wednesday's other game gave Ashton the undisputed possession of second place with a 17-11 win over the Millway Hatchery five.

On next Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock two more fast games will be presented. Featuring former high school and college performers, the league is worthy of the support of the public and a better attendance should result. A very small admission fee is charged to defray expenses. The games are played at the high school gymnasium each Wednesday evening starting at 7:15.

After losing a last minute decision to the Hatchery a week ago, the Beier Loafers came out with a great battle to attempt the halting of the Utilities five. Leading by four points near the end of the game it was apparent that the league leaders would fall but Joyce counted two long shots to tie the count at 14-14. Then Joyce's third basket and free throws by Johnson and Weinman gave the I. N. U. the verdict. Joyce added two free tosses to his three baskets for eight points and the scoring honors. Hasdelburg and Vorhis led the losers with 5 and 4 points respectively.

Neither team in the second battle accomplished much until the final quarter. Ashton led 10-8 at the finish of the third period and three long shots earned a 17-11 win. Kays made three baskets for six points to lead the scoring. Harms and Plozman had five points each for second place. The scores:

BANKRUPT PETITION FOR DISCHARGE

In the matter of Oliver O. Johnson, Bankrupt. In Bankruptcy. To the Honorable Charles E. Woodward, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the Northern District of Illinois, Western Division.

Oliver O. Johnson, of Alto Township in the County of Lee and State of Illinois, in said district, respectfully represents that on the 20th day of February last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress, relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights in, and to the same, to the United States, for the Northern District of Illinois, Western Division.

Wherefore he prays that he may be discharged from all debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 29th day of November, A. D. 1933.
Oliver O. Johnson, Bankrupt

United States of America, Northern District of Illinois, County of Ogles.
Oliver O. Johnson being duly sworn, deposes and says: that he is the petitioner named in the foregoing petition; that he has read the contents thereof and knows the contents thereof; that the same is true to the best of his knowledge and belief; and as to those matters he believes it to be true.

Oliver O. Johnson, Sworn to before me this 29th day of November 1933.
Lotta Uhanst, Notary Public.

ORDERED BY THE COURT, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 16th day of April, A. D. 1934, before said court at Freeport in said District, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice thereof be published in Dixon, Telegraph, a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the same time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED BY THE COURT, that the Clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable Charles E. Woodward, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, at Freeport in said District, on the 4th day of December, A. D. 1933.
Charles M. Bates, Clerk.

Smiles in SPORTS

By NEA service—
Jimmy Crowley, Notre Dame grid great, and present Fordham coach, has long been known for his humor and wit. One of his prizes was pulled off at the recent Notre Dame dinner for the 1933 football squad and the new coach, Emer Layden.

Crowley was toastmaster, and all the speakers were subjects of his wise-cracking tongue.

When Judge Ernest Hammer of New York arose to speak his piece, Jimmy, in introducing the dignitary, held no respect for law. Here is what he said:

"The judge is now really a judge in New York, hence his title is legitimate, but as a matter of fact he had the nickname 'judge' before he ever left Notre Dame."

"He got it because while he was a football player here he spent so much time sitting on the bench."

GIANT MANAGER ISN'T WORRIED OVER NEW BALL

He Sees More Base Hits And Just as Effective Pitching

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The New York Giants finished sixth in batting, tied for third in fielding but first in the National League pennant race last year and on top in the world series for one big reason—the class of their pitching staff featuring Carl Hubbell.

Under the circumstances, the liveliest ball which they will use this year, due to the adoption of the American League ball as the standard, might figure to handicap the world champions but their manager, Bill Terry, put himself on record today as confident of deriving more benefit than hindrance from the faster, thinner-covered pellet.

"Don't get the idea I'm just looking at this from the hitters' standpoint," smiled Big Bill, in taking time off from his oil business to discuss the 1934 baseball outlook. "I do figure the new ball will mean at least 15 points more in my batting average, plus a lot of extra baseruns for fellows like Melt Ott, George Davis and Gas Mancuso, but I don't see how it's going to make our pitchers any less effective."

"They were the class of the league last year and they will be the best staff in the game this year, whether they get hit harder or not. The fact is that the new ball will help pitchers like Hubbell with his screw ball, Schumacher with his sinker and Fitzsimmons with his knuckler. They have tried the American League ball and they are convinced of that, too. The faster ball breaks quicker. The slows who are going to suffer most will be the living and the so-called soft-ball pitchers and the older infielders—yes, like myself."

Speech Making is Hard for Mickey

Detroit, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Although Mickey Cochrane, the Detroit Tigers' new manager, has yet to pull out a catcher's mitt for the Bengals in action, so far as Detroit fandom is concerned the grinning, affable Irishman has played his first season here—and finished with the pennant.

Tomorrow Mickey will end what he calls "a hard season in the banquet league" to take himself eastward to Philadelphia, pick up the family and head for Lakeland, Fla., on a vacation until the Tiger battery men join him there March 4.

Rounding out a three week's stay here, Cochrane will have delivered 24 addresses, and "believe me," he says, "I'd rather catch a double header any time than make speeches."

BAPTIST ASSN. TO MEET

The annual mid-winter meeting of the Rock River Baptist Assn. will be held in the First Baptist church in Dixon Monday, with Rev. J. G. Whitten of Belvidere as moderator. "Meeting the Challenge of the Second Century of Baptist Work in Illinois" will be the subject on which Dr. B. E. Allen of Rockford, will speak. Rev. W. C. Rutherford, also of Rockford, Rev. Paul Metzger, returned Belgian Congo missionary; R. G. Schell of Chicago and Rev. R. E. Croneth of Matengo, will be other speakers.

Too Much for Granted

One of Europe's greatest of errors today is that each nation claims for itself a cultured unity and self-sufficiency that it does not possess. Each regards its share in the European tradition as an original achievement that owes nothing to the rest, and takes no heed of the common foundation in which its own individual tradition is rooted.

"We could stay down tonight," she was saying to Sue. "Tom could go up in the morning."

He hated to dash her dream but he said slowly, "Honestly I wish we could, darling, but I've got to be in so darned early."

Gypsy said briskly, cheerfully. "It doesn't matter in the least."

But he raged within because he had to disappoint her.

The apartment seemed especially small and cramped that night when they got back to it, warm, weary and snubbed. However, Gypsy said loyally, "We haven't got a tiled bath down at the Hollow, anyway." She was seeing the advantages of the apartment, admitting that the cabin with its windows open to the wide sea had some drawbacks, as long as they couldn't stay there.

But in the days that followed, when the heat of early June descended upon the city, making pavements and walls and unshaded windows one white glare of sunshine, she thought many and many a time with almost unbearable longing of the peace and coolness of Wading Hollow and the little cabin set among the dunes. Gypsy's mother telephoned, asking her to come out to Blue Hills, and they went one bright week-end, but Beatrice had moved into Gypsy's old room now. The house had settled down to a routine which did not include her and, while she knew she was always more than welcome, she could not accept her mother's generous suggestion that she and Tom spend the summer there.

"You'll wait away in town," Mrs. Morell said in melancholy tones. "I don't know what Tom Weaver's thinking of."

Gypsy interrupted gaily. "Mum, don't be silly! You know the apartment is comfortable as can be. We have awnings, we have refrigeration and electric fans and the river nearby. You talk as though I were in the Mojave desert."

This was all very well but when heat settled down like a blanket over her resolution was shaken. Tom found her one night, lying on the daybed, white and exhausted.

"It's nothing," she told him. Not for worlds would she admit the weakness and nervousness that had swept over her that day like a tide. The city had, all at once, seemed a giant octopus with fiery fingers reaching out to destroy her.

"There's something in that," Sue admitted. "But honestly, Gypsy, I'm mad about this place. Why didn't we ever come before?"

"Well, Rosina was here most of last summer," Gypsy told her. "It's Tom's property, really, but the family love it so they sort of have it on shares. The children adore it."

Tom caught her eye and she smiled at him, thinking of the child who might—most certainly would—be with them here in the following summer. Darling Tommy, how handsome he was with the sunburn blotting out his winter pallor and his long legs stretched out on the sand! What a pity they couldn't stay here all summer long, forget the job and the apartment and everything else. Well, there was no use wishing for the moon. You just had to enjoy things as they came.

Tom, on the other side of the fire, felt his heart swell with love for the small, galling girl in the deck chair. Gypsy's color was enchanting today—she was all apricot and brown tones—and the sea air had made her hair one mass of feathery ringlets.

INSTRUCTIONS ON CWA CUTS ARE RECEIVED
County Administration Received Details of Work Reduction

Certifying officer J. E. Reagan today received official instructions relating to the number of hours to be worked per week and the proportionate wage reduction under the recently reduced quota of the Federal Civil Works Administration for Illinois, which states:

In order to clarify any misunderstanding that may have arisen relative to the hours to be worked per week under the reduced quotas adopted Jan. 18, 1934, by which employees are to be subject to change in quota, hours worked and wage reductions:

A project will be worked not more than 24 hours a week if a majority of the workers on such project live in a city or town of more than 2,500 population, or within environs adjacent to such city or town or within Cook county, or in a predominantly urban county. However, if the majority live beyond the environs of such city or town in a rural county, the project will be worked no more than 15 hours a week.

Where these new rulings require reductions in hours and wages on a project, all workers, including foremen and timekeepers, will have their wages reduced in proportion to reduction in hours, whether working on a weekly or hourly wage rate.

The county quota reduction and proportionate wage adjustment applies entirely to the workers, whether common labor, skilled labor, clerical, engineering or professional forces listed carried and provided for in the original application for all CWA and CWS projects. If, however, clerical, supervisory or professional employees have been working on a 39 hour week, they are not affected.

For the reason that Federal projects do not affect the county quota, employees on Federal projects will be affected only as to proportionate hours and wage reductions.

All administrative forces, including clerical, engineering and other field forces, are not subject to the reduction in quota. By administrative forces is meant the staffs of state and county CWA administrations.

Source of Ideas in Doubt
Many philosophers, poets and writers, many artists and musicians, even some scientific men, have admitted that they could not describe how their ideas came to them.

The long distance swimmer's idea of covering himself with grease is an old one; ducks have done it for thousands of years.

finning to make their mark upon her. And yet she had, reclining there, the "strangely appealing beauty that comes to some women facing the great adventure of motherhood. Tom thought he had never seen her so lovely. Her face was thinner. The purity and integrity of her features was finely etched. Her eyes were large, weary, brooding.

Heartened by the food and by the errant and fitful breeze now stirring the curtains, she said to him: "Some day we'll laugh at all this. We'll be in our big garden, strolling under our own trees, and wonder why we made such a fuss about one little summer. We'll have Tom Junior and Susy Belle with us and we'll tell them about the terrible siege in the East Fifties that hot summer."

But she could not win a smile to Tom's lips. He was deadly serious. He was infinitely depressed.

"By this time I'd hoped to have a real place for you—a home," he said, throwing one disparaging glance at the four walls. "This is the time that counts, really. You ought to have everything—yachts and servants and comfort."

Gypsy was the stronger now. She chafed him gently. This was a bad time, she admitted, but they'd get through it. It didn't really matter. And indeed she felt at that moment she could face anything with Tom by her side.

BUT the following day, waking to brassy skies, the thought of coolness, of trees blowing, of windows opening onto green vistas, possessed her like a madness. The brick walls of the courtyard seemed to press in on her. The nights were fiery furnaces to try men's souls.

Tom knew this—sensed the tension and the turbulence in her. Day after burning day he left her, to find her white, gallant, smiling at night. They walked sometimes to the park, trying to find solace in the splashing fountains. But there was no real release any where.

One particularly hot afternoon Gypsy was aroused from a fitful doze by the ringing of the telephone. Tom's voice, joyous, renewed, came to her.

"Darling, what do you think? Pack up your duds—we're moving out to the Island."

"Not to the Hollow?" Had he gone suddenly mad? He knew he could never commute from there. "No," he sounded exultant. "I've made a dicker with Mac. He's letting me have his place at Port Washington because he wants to be in town."

Mac was McKinnon, one of the men in Tom's office. His wife, Tom explained, had gone out to her people in St. Paul for the summer, taking the children. Mac was tired of commuting. He fairly leaped at the idea of the Weavers' trim little apartment. Gypsy had seen his house once and had fallen in love with it. It was a tiny, blue-roofed cottage on a high hill with a sweep of bay just below it. Apple trees dotted the half acre beyond.

Well, it was too good to be true, but there it was!

Tom burst in upon her half an hour later, charged with electric energy. He found her languidly packing and took the bags, the bottles and brushes out of her lax hands.

"Go and lie down, woman," he commanded her. "I'm doing all this. We're moving to the country."

She didn't mean to, but all of a sudden tears came. Cooling, blinding, healing tears of gladness and relief.

LETTERS

Everyone loves to receive letters but not everyone likes to write them. Many people contend that though the mailman's visits are pleasant they are not sufficiently joyful to be worth the effort involved in building up a large correspondence. Yet, few realize that well chosen correspondents, scattered all over the country (or the world, if you are that lucky), can tell one more of the sidelights in the news that can reach of public printed matter.

For example, here is a view of the workings of the national industrial recovery act, shot from a different angle. It doesn't condemn the act, but it reveals some rough spots that must be ironed out:

"The NRA, becoming daily more audible—and I know the reason, a very simple one and one easy to correct. They are saying that it discriminates against the 'little fellow.' The whole thing started among the smaller retail stores and progressed on from them. You see, purchases are made according to discount. Discounts are decided according to a sliding scale—with the natural result that the larger the business the greater the profit. This does work a great hardship on the small dealer, and in some cases it will undoubtedly put him out of the running. That's the source of all the kicking, and if that rub is eliminated I've no doubt the skies will be serene again."

And then there's the war bug, who thinks that every time the fleet moves into Pacific waters it's headed straight for Japan. An answer to this fellow requires a lot of thought, if it's to be a diplomatic and missionary reply. At any rate, here's what he says.

"Something I think should be agitated is national defence. Of course a few of the papers are doing that plenty right now, but the more conservative sheets should 'take up the cry, now that we know positively that war with Japan 'can't be avoided.'"

Yes, everyone "oves to receive letters. But there is one letter I hope I never have to answer. It belongs to the kind that might read like this:

"When I was two years younger, I had nothing but contempt for older people who allowed themselves to drift into a state of 'being where they could be labeled and tucked away in a filing cabinet with thousands of others just like themselves. Those people, I thought, were utterly useless to society, and I resolved never to let myself decay as they had. 'But how I have changed! My ambition is gone, I am unhappy,

REVEAL ENORMOUS DEATH TOLL FROM INDIAN DISASTER

List of Dead In One Locality Alone Have Reached 25,000

Calcutta, Jan. 25.—(AP)—An appalling toll beyond any previously hinted may be reached in India's earthquake dead, it was indicated today when the Rajah of Monghyr said deaths in Monghyr alone have reached 25,000.

It will be weeks, he added, before ruins can be removed to reveal the bodies buried by the earthquakes last week which shook and I find myself repeating over and over: 'What's the use? Society won't let me be different, it won't let me think or reason; it laughs at me. I give up; I'll grab for money like all the rest do, and I won't care how many heads I step on.' There isn't any answer to that letter—unless, perhaps, one might explain that the real benefactor of mankind is not the one who follows along conventional paths, but the one who leads the pack out of the valley of tradition.

the region during the important Aislem festival of Eidul Fitr. The Rajah predicted two generations will pass before the devastated areas can be rehabilitated.

(The District of Monghyr is in northeastern India in the Bhagalpur division of Bihar and Orissa. It has an area of 3,927 square miles and is divided by the Ganges.)

An unnamed engineer was quoted today as having declared after a survey that the names of Monghyr and Muzaffarpur might as well be erased from the map.

Authorities Cover Facts
Authorities generally appear very anxious to conceal the true proportions of the disaster, but nothing can hide the fact that it is India's biggest calamity in generations.

Thousands who escaped with their lives have been utterly ruined—their homes destroyed and lands torn.

The general administration in Bihar province is at a standstill, due to damage to government buildings—damage estimated in one town alone at $250,000.

Bihar now is a province of tents, with thousands of homes demolished. Relief measures, however, are reported to be adequate. The public has responded generously to calls for help.
